File-System Interface

Revaiew Questions

Section 10.1

10.1   List at least three attributes of a file.

10.2   List at least three operations that made be performed on a file.

Section 10.2

10.3   What are the two fundamental ways of accessing a file?

Section 10.3

10.4   What is a volume?

10.5   What is the most common way of structuring directories?

10.6   True or False? UNIX systems allow acylic-graph directories.

Section 10.4

10.7   If a mount point is `/home` and the device `jane/programs` is mounted on the mount point, what is the complete path name to access the `programs` directory?

Section 10.5

10.8   Name one type of remote file system.

10.9   Name one type of distributed information system.

Section 10.6

10.10   What are the three general classifications of users in connection with each file?